

CSU Writes Paid Graduate Student “Communications” Internship for 2023-24

Number of positions: 1

Internship term: August 2023 – May 2024

Hours: Approximately 3-5/week

Stipend: $2000 and $20/hour any non-semester hours

Application Deadline: September 15, 2023 (by 5pm) or until filled.

Program Summary: CSU Writes is a research writing support program for graduate students, postdoctoral fellows, and faculty who write for degree completion and publication at Colorado State University. Through workshops, fostered writing groups, intensive writing retreats, “show up & write.” sessions, consultations, guest presenters, and more, CSU Writes helps shepherd the building of expertise and communication skills of CSU academics. We are part of a diverse community of research and scholarly writers who write early, often, better, together.

You can find more information about CSU Writes at <http://csuwrites.colostate.edu>

Position Description: This Graduate Student Intern assists with generating and decimating CSU Writes website and promotional materials and communications, specifically the CSU Writes blog/newsletter, the CSU Writes Accolades page, and additional opportunities as they arise. We may have all-intern bi-monthly meetings. When needed and when hours are available, we all roll up sleeves and post materials around campus and offer support at writing retreats and workshops. This internship should align with applicant’s professional development goals and be mutually beneficial.

Skills—Must have excellent written and verbal communication skills with experience in website-based communications and/or newsletters.

Must be personable, enthusiastic, punctual, responsible, and organized.

Must be Graduate Student at CSU with an interest in writing programs and models of programs in higher education and able to commit to 3-5 hours per week.

Optional, but helpful, for the Graduate Student to have participated in CSU Writes events.

To apply: email letter of interest to Dr. Kristina Quynn, Director of CSU Writes, by September 15, 2023. Your letter need not be lengthy. It should simply address your interest in the Communications Internship and describe your relevant experience and/or professional development goals.
